Election/Restrictions

1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:
  - I. Claims 1-3, 5-6, 11-15, 17, 19-25 & 28, drawn to a polynucleotide [SEQ ID NO: 12], encoding a variant yeast phenylalanine ammonia lyase (PAL) of SEQ ID NO: 13; or a polynucleotide [SEQ ID NO : 20, which is consensus sequence of SEQ ID Nos. 12, 16 & 18], encoding a PAL sequence of SEQ ID NO: 21, which is consensus sequence of SEQ ID Nos. 13,17 & 19], vector, host cell and method of making the polypeptide recombinantly classified in class 435, subclass 232.
  - II. Claims 4, 7-10, 16 & 18, drawn to polynucleotide (genomic) sequence of SEQ ID NO: 28, encoding PAL of SEQ ID NO: 29, classified in class 536, subclass 23.2.
  - III. Claims 26-27, drawn to PAL polypeptide of SEQ ID NO : 13 or 21, and composition thereof, classified in class 424, subclass 94.5.
  - IV. Claims 29-32, drawn to method of producing L-phenylalanine using recombinant host cell, classified in class 435, subclass 41.
  - V. Claims 33-36, drawn to a method of treating a mammal having a disease by administering PAL of SEQ ID NO: 13 or 21, classified in class 424, subclass 94.5.
2. The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

The DNA encoding the PAL of Group I and DNA encoding PAL of Group II are chemically and structurally distinct. Further, the DNA of Groups I and II encode varying levels of PAL activity. The consensus DNA sequence of Group I is derived from sequences distinct from the DNA sequence of Group II.

The DNA of Group I is related to the protein of Group III by virtue of the fact that the DNA codes for the protein. The DNA molecule has utility for the recombinant production of the protein in a host cell. Although the DNA and the protein are related, since the DNA encodes the specifically claimed protein, they are distinct inventions because the protein product can be made by other and materially distinct processes, such as purification from the natural source. Further, DNA can be used for processes other than the production of protein, such as nucleic acid hybridization assays.

The DNA of Group II does not encode the protein of Group III and are therefore unrelated. Even if the DNA and the protein were related by virtue of the fact that the DNA codes for the protein, the two are structurally, chemically any biologically distinct molecules.

Inventions III and IV or V are related as product and process of use. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product (MPEP 806.05(h)). In the instant case the process for using the product as claimed in Group III can be practiced with another materially different product such as isolated PAL by conventional chromatography.

The product of Invention II is not used in the method of Invention IV or V. Therefore, Inventions II, and IV or V are patentably distinct from each other.

The methods of Inventions IV and V are related in that each method requires the use of I or II or III. However, the steps and end points of the methods are wholly different and therefore Inventions I or II or III, and IV or V are patentably distinct.

3. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

4. A telephone call was not made to request an oral election to the above restriction requirement.

5. Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

6. Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).

7. Rejoinder

The examiner has required restriction between product and process claims. Where applicant elects claims directed to the product, and a product claim is subsequently found allowable, withdrawn process claims that depend from or otherwise include all the limitations of the allowable product claim will be rejoined in accordance with the provisions of MPEP § 821.04. Process claims that depend from or otherwise include all the limitations of the patentable product will be entered as a matter of right if the amendment is presented prior to final rejection or allowance, whichever is earlier. Amendments submitted after final rejection are governed by 37 CFR 1.116; amendments submitted after allowance are governed by 37 CFR 1.312.

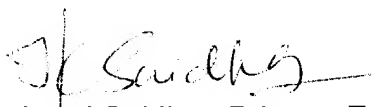

In the event of rejoinder, the requirement for restriction between the product claims and the rejoined process claims will be withdrawn, and the rejoined process claims will be fully examined for patentability in accordance with 37 CFR 1.104. Thus, to be allowable, the rejoined claims must meet all criteria for patentability including the requirements of 35 U.S.C. 101, 102, 103, and 112. Until an elected product claim is found allowable, an otherwise proper restriction requirement between product claims and process claims may be maintained. Withdrawn process claims that are not commensurate in scope with an allowed product claim will not be rejoined. See "Guidance on Treatment of Product and Process Claims in light of In re Ochiai, In re Brouwer and 35 U.S.C. § 103(b)," 1184 O.G. 86 (March 26, 1996). Additionally, in order to retain the right to rejoinder in accordance with the above policy, Applicant is advised that the process claims should be amended during prosecution either to maintain dependency on the product claims or to otherwise include the limitations of the product claims. Failure to do so may result in a loss of the right to rejoinder.
